

Foodcase International is looking for interns!

About Foodcase International

At Foodcase we love everything to do with travel F&B and we consider ourselves experts in all aspects of its production from conceptualization to distribution. The industry describes us as a “one-stop shop” and a worldwide distributor of everything you need to feed travellers on board from snacks to pastries, from ambient ready meals to special meals for all cabins. All this is made possible through our close association with more than 400 dedicated manufacturers and brands throughout Asia, EMEA and North America. We are passionate about sustainability and make it our business to ensure that we meet the highest standards from manufacturing to production; packaging to distribution. Everything we do contributes to reduce food waste, reduce the use of plastics, reduce the consumption of meat or to shorten the supply chain of our products to our customers. Through our unique relationship with the world’s foremost Food Science University Wageningen UR, we also have direct access to the latest research in terms of creating smart food for a greener world.

About the assignment

In this internship assignment you will support in any and all activities that help the company in maintaining its leading positions at the forefront of innovation in F&B products for the travel industry. You will provide general support to the R&D and QA department. We are open to anyone from any education, as long as it has a focus on food service or food processing. Based on the level of your education, we may define specific assignments and activities. Activities may include:

- Supporting in kitchen trials for R&D experiments
- Supporting in pilot trials for scale-up tests
- Possibly performing literature-, market or practical studies (depending on level of education)
- Contacting suppliers of products or ingredients to add to the FC portfolio
- Writing and checking ingredient specifications or product labels
- Performing validation experiments to ensure product quality

- Traveling to obtain or deliver product samples from suppliers or to customers
- Supporting in commercial presentations & tastings for customers
- Creating reports and/or presentations for sales & customer service (depending on level of education)

About the candidate

The ideal candidate for this internship assignment is:

- Currently enrolled in any education focussing on foodservice and/or food processing (level of supervision and independency may vary based on level of education)
- Has affinity with food, food quality and cooking
- Speaks English at C1 level or higher
- Willing to travel within The Netherlands and abroad
- Has at least B driver's license, valid in The Netherlands and Europe
- Skilled in Microsoft Office Suite
- Experience with Adobe Creative Suite is a pré

About the working conditions

- You will be an integral part of the operations team; jointly supervised by R&D, Sourcing & Procurement and Quality Assurance.
- Hybrid working location; Sometimes in the office, sometimes at production sites, sometimes working from home or other locations
- Internship period of at least 640 hours; 16 weeks/4 months at full time basis, or longer at part time basis.
- Internship fee and travel expenses included

Are you interested? We would like to receive your CV and motivation letter by email to:

O.Hoogland@foodcase-international.com

For questions or more information, please contact us at: +31 681788489.

Acquisition in response to this vacancy is not permitted